		from Lanwyche, in Shropshire, removed to the Palatinate of Chester, and from thence came with De Burgo, ancestor of the Clan richards, to Ireland about 1280. The De Burgos conferred on them large possessions in Westmeath and Longford, where they were Barons Palatines, as appears by Camden's Annals at the end of his "Britania". A branch settled near Drogheda. The last of it was Colonel Ledwich, who suffered the misfortunes of James II. His son Edward was bred to the leather trade, and followed it extensively in Patrick Steet in this city. He had by his wife, Eliza Arthur three sons, Edward, Dean of Kildare and Prebendary of Christ Church ; John, who followed his father's business in the same street. John Ledwich, before mentioned was born, 27th Novr, 1714, and died 22 May 1794. He left by hi wife, Eliza Davis, two children, Lettice, wife of the Revd, James Whitelaw, Vicar of St. Catherine's, Dublin ; and Edward, Vicar of Aghaboe, in the Queen's County, at whose sole expense this memorial of his ancestors who lie here interred has been made. Richard, son of said Edward, died as an infant, and is here buried. Charles son of said Edward, died 17 June 1795 aged 8 years and a half. Here lieth the body of the above named Rev. Edward Ledwich, who departed this life on the 11th day of August, 1823, at the advances age of 84 years. Here also lieth the body of Lydia, wife of William, third son of the above named Edward, who departed this life on the 26th June, 1816, aged 28 years, and also Peter Wilkinson Ledwich, eldest son of the above Lydia, who departed this life on the 1st of
