

Sources – Donnybrook cemetery September 2014

The cemetery is under the care of Dublin City Council, Environmental Health Section

PERIOD OF USE:c. 800 to 1899

PRESENT RECORD LOCATIONS: Church of Ireland burial registers 1712-1916 are at the Representative Church Body Library.

We have amalgamated the work of Rev. Beaver Blacker, Danny Parkinson and also the work of a group of people who worked as part of a Youth Employment Scheme in transcribing the inscriptions of Donnybrook Graveyard. The notes from the scheme survive (in part) on a notice board just inside the gate of the cemetery. A full copy of the original has not been found to-date.

- 1 Journal of the Irish Memorials Association vol. ii: p79 - 83, 290-294 and 475-479.
- 2 Danny Parkinson, Donnybrook Graveyard, c.800 - 1993 , (Dublin, Dublin Family History Society, 1993) Printed Booklet
- 3 FAS Project (Photographs taken of the notice board with the remains of their work).
- 4 Vivien Igoe - Dublin Burial Grounds & Graveyards, Wolfhound Press 2001
- 5 W Frazer. "Description of a great sepulchral mound ..." Proceedings of the Royal Irish Academy 2nd series, vol. II, no. 2 (December 1880): pages 29-55
- 6 Rev. Beaver H Blacker - Brief Sketches of the Parishes of Booterstown and Donnybrook In The County Of Dublin, 1860
- 7 Francis Elrington Ball - A History of the County of Dublin: The People, Parishes and Antiquities from the Earliest Times to the Close of the Eighteenth Century. Part Second: Being a History of That Portion of the County Comprised within the Parishes of Donnybrook, Booterstown, St. Bartholomew, St. Mark, Taney, St. Peter, and Rathfarnham, Dublin: Alex. Thom & Comp., 1903.
- 8 Rev. Cyril P. Crean - Parish of the Sacred Heart, Donnybrook . Dublin: John T. Drought, 1966.
- 9 Richard Andrew Hall - "A Viking-age grave at Donnybrook, Co. Dublin," Medieval Archaeology vol. 22 (1978): pages 64-83